

KUCHBOWL III

RULES

You have been officially invited to the Third Annual KuchBowl. Here's how it works:

30 dollar buy in. There is a significant change to this year's scoring. You receive the usual points for picking the spread, however you will now also be awarded points for picking the over under.

2pts for each win and O/U in the first week.

3pts for each win and O/U in the second week.

6pts for each win and O/U for the 3rd week.

12pts for picking the Super Bowl winner and the O/U

No points are awarded for a push.

Person with the most total points wins the whole pot. Winner take all.

We go by the spreads put out tomorrow (1-2) and Mondays after the first week by the SF Chronicle. The spreads are available at www.kuchbros.com/kuchbook Picks are done through a link that will be emailed to you after the Monday spreads. I will not look at the picks until I make my picks. I will then email everyone, everyone's pick by midnight on Fridays.

Tie breaker will be picking the total points for the Super Bowl. Closest one wins. You can go over. If the two people with the most total points are equidistant from the total points the second tie breaker is picking the most correct total games and O/U throughout the Playoffs. The third tiebreaker is most correct picks in the final round. The fourth tiebreaker is one of the remaining people picked the Super Bowl winner. The fifth tiebreaker is most wins in the first week. If there is still a tie a coin will be flipped.

thank you
